A live concert by the Daisy Jopling Band, with a Symphony Orchestra and Special Guests including Michael Feigenbaum, conducted by Dean Fransen.

Daisy Jopling’s Irradiance program is composed by Daisy Jopling, Michael Feigenbaum and Brian Delma Taylor, as orchestrated by Dean Fransen. This modern and accessible musical program blends traditional orchestral music aesthetics with a wide array of contemporary musical styles spanning from playful gypsy sounds and introspective jazz moods to celebratory gospel grooves and well-established rock songs.

The Irradiance Show is an uplifting musical journey which can be performed by a professional orchestra and/or a student/mentor “side-by-side” orchestra. The music is especially written to also include students in choirs and as featured soloists.

The Irradiance Show package offers workshops for students of all levels. Daisy Jopling, Michael Feigenbaum and Dean Fransen have all worked extensively with students worldwide.

This unique musical program helps modernize the concert environment while stimulating enthusiasm for live orchestral music and community interaction.
